

When The Time Comes

Jason Upton

You are wisdom but you ask questions
Thank you God for never telling me a lie

Your decisions are mostly hidden
The stage you stand upon is not for human eyes

You tell me not to worry about tomorrow But I worry anyway
You tell me you'll take care of all my troubles
Jesus, teach me how to wait

You are future but you are present
Thank you God for never running from your past

You're committed to your creation
For everything you've made your love forever lasts

You tell me not to worry about tomorrow but I worry anyway
You tell me you'll take care of all my troubles
Jesus, teach me how to wait

When the time comes, I will see forever
When the time comes, It'll be all right
When the time comes, I will be the one asking why
