

Kill Or Be Killed

Jay Rock

You woke up this morning not knowing blood will be on your garments, hour glasses and informants look that's crawling down your harness, see them demons and them omens staring at you mind control they want your soul and then your rolling with them just know where you going, (hellbound) twelve rounds came out that 4, 5, look up to see 25 that's alot, (let's rewind) when you pulled up on them 6's bust a pistol busting bitches nigga's looking suspicious load em' up while you, (switching switching) hungry enough to come and get you, hope the gun is coming with you, gonna have to shoot it out or shoot in front (won't pitch em') time is now you wasn't focused you seemed up like you had posted, no tags it was stolen and then it was murder motives, blink of an eye you looking right at yo demise as they hopping out they gonna ride it's a homicide on yo life, the coldest thing you didn't see and now you laying there bleeding hopeness they keep out your weakness and now you hope to see light

See out of my body's where they want me, they think they can catch me slipping they want me, so I sleep with one eye open, cause you never know when you wake up and you're gone, now the doctors they operating pumping your heart in front of yo momma yo dogs if you don't make it you don't, on the way to the trauma center they taking to long swerving in and out of traffic yo mamma tell you, (hold on) your bodies filled up with holes you feel your body getting colder smelling that death in the air the reaper waiting for your soul, while your fighting for your struggling to get some air yeah, when that line flat then it's a tag on yo toe, as your soul start to travel out your flesh you see yourself lying on that gurney all bloody buddy it's a mess, wish the best upon your flesh but your flesh might be disappointed, pray to god that you anointed while awaiting your reunion, while he pointing in that waiting room going through the motions all the screaming and comotion as they split yo body open, for the surgery and accertainly as seems that it's over better pray that you hold over, call your bloods how you was potent, I said maybe cause your safety is for certain out your hands, not your momma not your daddy not your girl not your mans, none can save you hope they play you in a memory when you fly, you made but your ligaments ain't alive wish you had died

Threatening messages punk got ahold of my voicemail, plotting and planning damaging, on giving this boy hell, hopped off of my boy hell, man I hope they enjoy shells, dropped, all up on the
