Leave A Mark

Jedward

We all want to be seen and heard
We all want to leave a mark on this world
Let the thunder and echoes come and go
Embark on a journey let the magic unflod

Be your own canvas Paint the vision you see Use whatever colours To show how you feel

Be known as the person, who did all they could Act like the icons in the story books I salute those, who gave it their all I salute those, who shot to the stars

We all want to be seen and heard
We all want to leave a mark on this world
Let the thunder and echoes come and go
Embark on a journey let the magic unflod

Before your days are numbered Laugh out loud, do the right thing Stand tall and proud

When all is said and done You can look back on your life With teardrops of joy Knowing you did all you should

I salute those, who gave it their all I salute those, who shot to the stars

We all want to be seen and heard
We all want to leave a mark on this world
Let the thunder and echoes come and go
Embark on a journey let the magic unflod

A breath of hope it lingers in the air
It's the dawn of a new age united we stand
I hear midnight bells ringing out a new day
We're dream chasers out of the ashes we soar

I salute those, who gave it their all I salute those, who shot to the stars

We all want to be seen and heard
We all want to leave a mark on this world
Let the thunder and echoes come and go
Embark on a journey let the magic unflod
