

Drowning

Jeff Scott Soto

There's a time & place for everything you say & do
I dont know where you think you got the right, the right the ru le my life
If you think you got me on a string
You'd better take another look at yourself, aint hard to satisf y

Doesn't really matter what I do or say, no
But you're pushing me away

There's something about you got me drowning from your love
Don't wanna let you down again
I gotta confess I'm really drowning from your love
& I wont go down, dont let me down

Why do you insist on constantly bringing me down
When all I do is convey, convey to your desire
Nothing but frustration time & time & time again
You're driving me to escape & reach 4 something higher

All the things u said are ringing in my ears
& you're pushing me away

There's something about you got me drowning from your love
Don't wanna let you down again
I gotta confess I'm really drowning from your love
& I wont go down

There's something about you got me drowning from your love
Don't wanna let you down again
I gotta remake I'm really drowning from your love
& I aint going down again

There's something about you got me drowning from your love
Don't wanna let you down again
I gotta confess I'm really drowning from your love
Aint going down
