

High Time

Jeff Scott Soto

Whisper in the morning turns into a silent scream
Can you hear me burstin' out of each & every seam?

Strolling down the runway with the blinders in my eyes
I can't seem to look much further, the key to my demise

Take me to the highest mountain, take me in your arms
Cuz it's high time, i find time to rise again
Take me from the darkest nightmare, don't let me fall again
Cuz it's high time, i find time to rise again

Walking out of every story, running out of dreams
Only fools aint strong enough to know just what it means

Through the tunnel vision with the need to understand
Nothing ventured, nothing gained means nothing in the end

Take me to the highest mountain, take me in your arms
Cuz it's high time, i find time to rise again
Take me from the darkest nightmare, don't let me fall again
Cuz it's high time, i find time to rise again

Blinded by the glow of living on the lines
Feeling like i can't break away
So look into the future, cuz i now know who i am
Tomorrow, tomorrow will bring a brighter day

Through the tunnel vision with the need to understand
Nothing ventured, nothing gained means nothing in the end

Take me to the highest mountain, take me in your arms
Cuz it's high time, i find time to rise again
Take me from the darkest nightmare, don't let me fall again
Cuz it's high time, i find time to rise again