

Everything

Jennifer Rush

Precious are the moments in your presence
I can almost taste it
Like my whole life's been wasted
Without you I was empty, I was jaded
I was broken and indifferent

Oh, if I could be anything, anything I want
If I could anything at all

I would be everything you need
I would be everything you touch
I'd be the answer to your dreams
'Cause I want so much to mean that much to you, baby

Your eyes, full of promise,
Full of passion for each moment
And compassion for the fallen
Lift me ever higher and inspire me
To be all that you know I can be

Oh, if I could be anything, anything I want
If I could anything at all

I would be everything you need
I would be everything you touch
I'd be the answer to your dreams
'Cause I want so much to mean that much to you, baby

Everything you touch
Everything you see
Everything you want
Anything at all

I would be everything you need
I would be everything you touch
I'd be the answer to your dreams
'Cause I want so much to mean that much to you, baby

I would be everything you touch
I would be everything you want
I'd be the silence when you sleep
Just to wake you with my love