

Eyes of a Woman

Jennifer Rush

How can love be blind
When I see so clearly
You're beautiful inside
But your heart won't believe it
Staring at yourself in the mirror
You see a loser
But look closer

Tongue-tied and broken
You're falling through life
With a heart that won't open
Love-lost and fragile
And you're just a man
And you can't understand
Why I see what I see
'Cause I look through the eyes of a woman

Windows of your soul shine on
I'm looking through you
I wish you could know all you are
Just like I do
So how can I explain
As a woman
To a vision, intuition

Tongue-tied and broken
You're falling through life
With a heart that won't open
Love-lost and fragile
And you're just a man
And you can't understand
Why I see what I see
'Cause I look through the eyes of a woman.