

Hero Of A Fool

Jennifer Rush

Sometimes a word
Is all it takes and I'm back at the start
I've crossed that line before
And knew there was no return
Feelings seemed to stay on my mind
Visions of days gone by

Or just the sound
Is all it takes for the memory of you
I wait there lying low
Silence has taken a toll
Eventhough these feelings are strong
I know now you're never torn

I see it now, I finally see what came undone
It took some time for me to realise
That in the end all I should have done was run
I'm seeing you the hero of a fool

And when the thought tries to hold me back from making the turn
The closer that you get
I'll see what I've come to learn
That over and over again
I'm caught up in make believe

I see it now, I finally see what came undone
It took some time for me to realise
That in the end all I should have done was run
I'm seeing you the hero of a fool

I see it now, I finally see what came undone
It took some time for me to realise
That in the end all I should have done was run
I'm seeing you the hero of a fool

Oh Ohh,
I'm seeing you the hero of a fool