

The Right Time Has Come Now

Jennifer Rush

You came out of nowhere
I won't go there
It was a place full of despair
I sure wouldn't feel any shame
If you no longer knew my name
No I don't dare so much
But I need more than just your touch

The right time has come now
ooo show me some emotion, hey
The right time has come now
ooo show me some emotion, hey

It wasn't enough to break my heart
You took it and you tore it apart
My love has idea before your eyes, ooh your eyes
But its plain to see that your love lies
Though you might be the first
It could never be much worse

The right time has come now
ooo show me some emotion, hey
The right time has come now
ooo show me some emotion, hey

Matter of fact, now the right time has come
In the wrong direction, running myself down
Its gonna stop now
Ready or not now the right time has come
In the wrong direction, running myself down
It's gonna stop now

Though you might be the first
It could never be much worse

The right time has come now
The right time has come now
