

From Here

Jenny Owen Youngs

Scrape you up the pavement just like I said I would,
I can't stand to watch the way you break yourself against the ground.

The things you are,
the way you do
shouldn't have a thing to do with anyone but you.

And it may be that things in your life are coming in too clear.
Go ahead, do the right thing
I'll just watch from here.

You're banging on the screen door
looking for the scraps,
any little piece of me
anything you can have.
Well oh so sorry,
oh so sad,
I don't have a thing you want.

Well it may be that things in your life are coming in too clear
Go ahead do the right thing
I'll just watch from here.

I'm not the girl you think you saw,
popping my knuckles just waiting to fall.

Well it may be that things in your life are coming in too clear
Well go ahead, do the right thing
I'll just watch from here.

Me not caring is the best thing happening to you
