

Restart

Jeremy Enigk

You can have the things you want
Balance targets on my head
Send an arrow straight to my heart
Leave it wide open and restart

Don't ask why
I could never change your mind
I could never fake the art
Leave it wide open and restart

Sea is rising, no light on the horizon. it's dark, dark
Not a mountain, we're drinking from this fountain
Where the gift's always free
Not a rebel all dressed up like a devil in angel clothing
Leave it wide open and restart

You can't hide
It's coming around like a runaway train
It's going in and out like a radio wave
Believe me I know that I haven't tried
Racing on the wind and the tide of your heart
