

Repo Man

Jeremy Messersmith

Fourteen years I was sober
I worked hard for my pay
Left my tithe at the altar
Closed my eyes when I prayed
But I'm the repo man and nobody weeps for me
The ground is cold in Minnesota
Cotton falling on the town
I share this hill with a willow
But he never makes a sound