Bargain Basement Howard Hughes

Jerry Cantrell

Don't deny I did you cold I broke your trust and lied Controlling, selfish, gossip abound Cocaine mouth over mind

And I say... I wash my hands, pull the slivers No master plan, I deliver

Enigma wrapped in riddle Your life I belittle Dignity I'd steal Now I know how it feels

Stubborn bastard, hard head knocking We had our good years too Though apart, you're still in my heart I'd give anything for you

And I say... I wash my hands, pull the splinters No master plan, I deliver

Enigma wrapped in riddle Your life I belittle Dignity I'd steal Now I know how it feels

Often heard, seldom seen Bargain Basement Howard Hughes Hermit phase, a woodshed rage These days headlines are few

And I say... I wash my hands, pull the splinters No master plan, I deliver

Enigma wrapped in riddle Your life I belittle Dignity I'd steal Now I know how it feels
