

Comfort And Crazy

Jerry Jeff Walker

Say you have got the best years of my life and I've got yours
Who will you trust, hold your own, no one
That must be your answer to my question I am certain
You love 'em nice and easy to the bone

'Cause comfort and crazy, such a smooth combination
That's how it feels to be lovin' you
Using stumbling blocks as stepping stones
Or anything that'll work as long
As we stay bound to split this life in two

So when it looks like cartoon time and you stuck down in Texas
Feelin' like some shot-up old tin can
Won't you call me up, darlin', I'll run on down and get you
You got me last so I'm your man

'Cause comfort and crazy, what a smooth combination
When it's time to be lovin' you
Using stumbling blocks for stepping stones
Or anything that'll work as long
As we stay bound to split this life in two

And I know we're bound to split this life in two
Got you, darling
