

Morning Song To Sally

Jerry Jeff Walker

As the morning light stretched in across my bed
I thought of you, hmmmm.
Remembering your laughing eyes and all we said
I love you too, hmmmmm.
As all my thoughts of you pass 'fore my face a thousand times,
The way they race my heart I cannot say all in lines.

We kissed goodbye so smooth it turned me 'round
Round and round, Hmmmmmm
And now sometimes our cool returns to put me on
And slightly down, hmmm.

It seems our love was destined to be caught in other nets
But the love I feel for you Id chance again without regrets.
Standing on the road has been my song before, hmmmmmm
And now somehow I'm forced to see me there once more
And that's this song, hmmmm
My waking thoughts of you are just extensions of my dreams
Without you here beside me I'll never know just what they mean

As the morning light stretched in across my bed,
I thought of you, hmmmm
Remembering your laughing eyes and all we said
I love you too, hmmmm
As all my thoughts of you pass 'fore my face a thousad times
The way they race my heart I cannot say it all in lines.