

I'm Still Jealous Of You

Jerry Lee Lewis

I'm so afraid that somebody else is gonna find
His way into your heart
I love you darlin', there's always a chance
A stranger might find some way to pull us apart

Darlin', you give me no reason to worry my mind
'Cause you've never once been untrue
It's just that I've loved you for such a long time
I'm still jealous of you

You're a good looking woman
Who could tempt any man
And that's why I feel like I do
Something ol' Jerry's feelings
May get a little out of hand
'Cause I'm still jealous of you

I live with the feeling
That I'll wake up some day
And I won't be the first
In your heart

You know, darlin', nothing hurts worse
Than the memories you save after a love falls apart
Think about it

So darlin' please don't blame me for keeping what's mine
And guarding our precious love, like I do
It's just that I've loved you, for such a long time

That I'm still jealous of you
Honey, I'm still jealous of you
You better believe I am, babz
