

How Many Tomorrows

Jerry Reed

Where is that tomorrow that place in time
That day when your memory don't occupy my mind That mornin' when I'll wake up with no regrets to find Oh how many tomorrows will that be how many tomorrows till I'm free

I wonder how long until these heartaches end Till yesterday's forgotten till the hurtin' wears thin
And how much time remembering is there left for me to spend Oh how many tomorrows will that be how many tomorrows till I'm
free

Oh they say that time can break the chains that bind your heart to yesterday
But deep inside of me is the love for you that time will never take away
It's there to stay

So a million tomorrows won't ease all the pain
And every day without you will be more of the same Ach in' just to hold you inside these arms again
But how many tomorrows will that be how many tomorrows will tha t be
