Second Sunday

Jessica Andrews

Monday mornings are bittersweet Just like the coffee in my cup It's what you need but not enough

Here without warning, another week I'd rather crawl back into bed And lie with you all day instead

Everyone around the world can Understand me And this feeling inside Maybe my heart is just a little too demanding Oh, but when I look in your eyes When I look in your eyes baby

I need a second Sunday So I can be with you I'm gonna go tell Monday This is something I've got to do Another 24 hours Is all that it takes Sometimes love just needs a second Sunday

It's 6am, Hey aren't you sweet With your hair all in a mess I wonder why did I get dressed

When from California to NYC There's a fever goin' round Like the love that we have found

Maybe my heart is just a little too demanding Oh, But when I look in your eyes

I need a second Sunday So I can be with you I'm gonna go tell Monday This is something I've got to do Another 24 hours Is all that it takes Sometimes love just needs a second Sunday

Another 24 hours Is all it takes Sometimes love just needs a second Sunday

Don't feel guilty just 'cause we wanna Stay in bed If you love me, don't let the weekend go

I need a second Sunday So I can be with you I'm gonna go tell Monday This is something I've got to do Another 24 hours Is all that it takes Jitten J www.thcc.
