

Tough Love

Jessie Ware

It's already that time that you hope my mind is true
And I've been thinking of what to say or not to do
So you wanna be a man about it, do you?
And have you figured out all you wanted, have you?

When your heart becomes a million different pieces
That's when you all be able to recognize its feeling

That's called tough love
That's called tough love
That's called tough love
That's called tough love

In the middle of the night all I think about is you
I dream in all your clouds of glory, it's true
So you wanna be a man about it, do you have to?
And have you figured out all you wanted, have you?

When your heart becomes a million different pieces
That's when you all be able to recognize its feeling

That's called tough love
That's called tough love
That's called tough love
That's called tough love

You have me crying out, crying out for more
You have me crying out, crying out for more
You have me crying out, crying out for more
You have me crying out, crying out for more

That's called tough love
That's called tough love
That's called tough love
That's called tough love
