The Devil You Know

Jesus Jones

Life to call our own that is ours alone Is as hard as hell to come by these days It's time that I took what's mine, took it now, yeah

Things aren't what they where, they're what they are There's no time of our own

And the Devil you know is the only one And the Devil you know is the only one

Is time too fast for us to grasp something of our own?

The ghost of the past has it's arms around me It moves everywhere in all I hear and see

And the Devil you know is the only one And the Devil you know is the only one

Look at you now, look at you then, see how you will be All of your life belongs to me and only me

Because things aren't what they where, they're what they are There's no time of our own

And the Devil you know is the only one
