

Rupi's Dance

Jethro Tull

She dances through the flower-filled room -
Sea-green eyes a-sparking.
Or are they blue? The message clear:
Seduce the master, winking.

Dainty feet circles inscribe
Upon the frozen parquet.
Arabesque in compound time:
Stately Pavane or Bour?e.

Sultry smile, come hither gaze -
Black hair softly shining.
Calls me up to half-lit bed.
Sweet cloud with golden lining.

Oh, so young with ageless smile -
Born of ungodly maker
Draws me: moth to candle bright -
Fiery pleasure-seeker.

She dances through the flower-filled room -
Sea-green eyes a-sparking.
It's Rupi's dance: the message clear.
Her movement does the talking.