

Once Should Be Enough

Jillian Edwards

If you could plan everything or anything at all
Would you have me there beside you to watch the leaves fall?
Wait don't answer that, don't answer that
I couldn't handle either way
And somehow I still wish you'd try a little harder than you are
Not to be so close
Not to be so far away
Say sorry everyday
I know once should be enough
Once should be enough
Once should be enough

I don't see you much, but it seems you're doing well and Only time, only time will tell when
All this will adjust and everything will be okay
Then I go back in a moment
We're driving in my car
And you are telling me that I am fun just to look at
The nicest thing to say
You're playing in my brain
When once should be enough
Once should be enough

Believe me friend, you are not the only one
Who's ready for me to stop singing these kinds of songs but I think the melodies with your name on them are almost done
This might be the very last one
There have been so many
When once should be enough
Once should be enough
Once should be enough
Once should be enough
