

Too Good To Be True

Jim Ed Brown

(Too good to be true too good to be true)
Your kiss could cure the sickest man and you would cure the whole world if you could
And everybody wants to love you cause they heard that lovin' you's so good
It was me who taught you how to love and how to kiss I taught it all to you
I was all you wanted when you didn't know a thing but now you're too good to be true
(Too good to be true too good to be true)

Once not long ago you couldn't thrill me with your kiss but you were mine
You practiced up but now you're so good that you want new lovin' all the time
It was me who taught you...

You studied hard at lovin' and now you know much more than I ever knew
So I'll go out and find someone to teach me how to be as good as you
It was me who taught you...
(Too good to be true too good to be true)
