

Maureen

Jim Reeves

Alone tonight, I dream in my land of an island far across the sea
A little bit of heaven they call Ireland where an angel waits for me

Maureen, Maureen, my heart is filled with pain
To be with you and to hold you in my arms again

In all my dreams I dream of you, Maureen
And the misty moonlit meadows and the hills of green

The hills that heard us whisper the secrets of our heart
The hills that heard us promise that we would never part

Maureen, Maureen, someday white sails will gleam
And you'll know I'm back to stay forever more, Maureen
