

The World You Love

Jimmy Eat World

I got a story it's almost finished all i need is someone to tell it too maybe, that's you.

our time is borrowed and spent to freely every minute i have needs to be made up but how?
i'm looking for a nice way to say "i'm out."
i want out.

i fall asleep with my friends around me only place i know, i feel safe i'm gonna call this home the open road is still miles away Hey nothing serious we still have our fun oh we had it once

Windows open and close that's just how it goes don't it feel like sunshine afterall

the world we love forever, gone we're only just as happy as everyone else seems to think we are

i'm in love with the ordinary i need a simple space and rest my head everything gets clear well i'm a little ashamed for asking but just a little helps it gets me straight again helps me get over it (over it) it might seem like a dream but it's real to me

don't it feel like sunshine afterall
the world we love forever, gone
we're only just as happy
as everyone else seems to think we are you should see the canals are freezing you should see me high you should just be here be with me here it doesn't seem theres hope for me i let you down but i won't give in now not for any amount

don't it feel like sunshine afterall
the world we love forever, gone
we're only just as happy

as everyone else seems to think we are