I Wonder

Jimmy Nail

Since youv'e been gone I've lived my life In dreams of used to be And I wonder if I'll ever love again? I don't know I'm gonna lock my heart today And throw away the key And I wonder if I'll ever love again?

I wonder if I will ever love this way again Walking a straight line through the sunshine and the rain Makin' a vow and seein' it through Doing the things that lovers do I wonder if I will ever love this way again

I take your picture from my wall And gently lay it down Oh, and I wonder if I'll ever ease this pain, I don't know Now as the rain begins to fall

And there's darkness all around That's when I wonder if I'll ever love again

I wonder if I will ever love this way again I can survive by staying alive every now and then But that's not the way that I want it to be I want it back the way it was with you and me I wonder if I will ever love this way again

I wonder if I will ever love this way again I'm willing to try but I don't know that I can stand The hurt and the pain But just as I am sure that there's a heaven above I know there can be no life if there is no love I wonder if I will ever love this way again
