

Merchant Of Love

Joan Armatrading

You're selling emotions that I can't buy
Don't want the sadness, price is far too high
And I don't want, I don't need your package lies
I've got too much in store

Someone help me
Find the merchant of love
Selling heaven here on earth
I've bought pain and measures
Of pure heartache, I've had all I can take

I'm willing to wait for lasting pleasure
With promises that won't ever break
Someone help me find the merchant of love
With a full guarantee

I'd travel miles and miles and miles
To find the place with treasures
Much more rich than gold, I just want a heart
That captures my soul and I'm willing to wait

I'm willing to wait for lasting pleasure
With promises that won't ever break
Someone help me find the merchant of love

Someone help me
Find the merchant of love
With full guarantee
