

Soulmates to Strangers

Joan Jett

I thought that we were special
That you are the one for me
We don't know well together
And I started to believe
Our love was invincible
And then the cracks started to unglue
Like me and you

We were fated to be together
We were fated to be apart
We were soulmates and then we were strangers

The mood had started changing
Then I knew I had to leave
Theres no point in blaming
Then we were both so naive
Do you think you ever loved me?
And do you think of me, do you think
I think of you

We were fated to be together
We were fated to be apart
We were soulmates and then we were strangers
We were soulmates that turned into strangers

I thought you were my best friend
And I know you felt it too
And then we hit a dead end
Was like someone I never knew
I know that we were intimate
But that's the part that I don't recall at all

We were fated to be together
We were fated to be apart
We were soulmates and then we were strangers
We were soulmates that turned into strangers
We were soulmates and now we are strangers