

Feel The Sunshine

Joe Brooks

This place, it has deserted you
One by one, it's turning out the lights
Standing breathless, looking for
The beauty hanging inches from your eyes

Feeling high
Feeling dry

Sometimes, you wait up all night for the sunshine
To bring you the light and lead you home again
Lead you home again
If you ever stop hoping that life could be better
I'm letting you know I'm still here by your side
So turn around and feel the sunshine, yeah, oh

Hurt only hurts
As long as the heart doesn't have the heart to be free
It was you who said, just lose it all
In faith that what you give, you will receive

Feeling high
Feeling dry

Sometimes, you wait up all night for the sunshine
To bring you the light and lead you home again

Lead you home again
If you ever stop hoping that life could be better
I'm letting you know I'm still here by your side
So turn around and feel the sunshine

Oh, oh oh, oh no no, oh
At least you know you're alive
Oh, oh oh, oh no no, oh
Sometimes what we need is the fight

But if you ever stop hoping that life could be better
I'm letting you know I'm still here by your side
So turn around, turn around, oh

Sometimes, you wait up all night for the sunshine
To bring you the light and lead you home again
Lead you home again
If you ever stop hoping that life could be better
I'm letting you know I'm still here by your side
So turn around and feel the sunshine
Turn around and feel the sunshine