Chinatown

Joe Jackson

Trying to find Chinatown Trying to find Chinatown

A hungry man Can hold out a long time For some soul food Good food, whole food I know I was that man Maybe sometimes hold out a little too long

I took a right Then I took a wrong turn Someone asked me for a quarter It didn't seem to fit He didn't look much like a Chinaman

Trying to find Chinatown Trying to find Chinatown

An old black man Pushing a shopping trolley Filled with tin cans Avoided his glance I'm nervous and I'm lost And I don't see too many restaurants

A guy laid out With a knife in his back A cop came along Told him, move on Go home and sleep it off I didn't know if I should get involved

Trying to find Chinatown Trying to find Chinatown