Me and You (Against the World)

Joe Jackson

If I could be two places at one time
I'd be with you
I've lost my heart I'm losing half my mind but i don't care

Don't tell me don't ask me don't talk at all Don't help me I don't know if I can stand The bitter-sweetness of it all

I don't know I don't care don't even hear what they all say There's no past there's no future and no fear what can they do I'm helpless I can't talk or even stand My heart won't start until I get from you The look that says you love me too Me and you against the world

I've read the Bible and those books at school but they don't make much sense of this The finest minds are calling me a fool But you destroy them with your kiss Just one kiss