

I Believe

Joe Lynn Turner

There are fires burnin' right outside our door We hold each other like we never have before In a room without a view, we tried no to fall apart As people cry for justice in a world without heart
So I call upon the righteous to give up the truth I call on the children who give up their youth
I call upon the angels to give the sky
I call on the might just lay down an die

Oh, I believe heaven above
Yes and I believe power of love
It's something baby everybody needs Never surrender, I believe

All my trials lord will soon come to and end
The road is miles long but,
I found a long lost friend Yeah-and all our weariness will help make us strong Yeah-and all these fires lord, will be forever gone Yeah-I believe

Yes and I believe heaven above
Yes and I believe power of love
It's all come down to you and me Never surrender, No-I believe, I believe All our weariness, all our weariness will help make us strong
And these fires, these raging burning fire lord will soon be gone
