

Let Me Sing to You

Joe Purdy

Sometimes I wish I was somebody else
Sometimes I wish that I had more to give
Sometimes I wish that I was better than this
Honey let me sing to you
Oh, let me sing
Oh, let me sing
Honey let me sing to you
Wish I could buy you the finest of things
Wish I could give you diamonds and rings, yes
I'm not a rich man, and all I can bring
Is a song I can sing to you
Oh, let me sing
Oh, let me sing
Honey let me sing to you
Yes I've been burned too many times
I've been accused of crossin' the line
The best I can do is explain in rhymes
Honey let me sing to you
Oh, let me sing
Oh, let me sing
Honey let me sing to you
Been around the world as much as I can
If you buy me a ticket I would do it again
Yes it may be true that I wear myself thin
But I can still sing to you
Oh, let me sing
Oh, let me sing
Honey let me sing to you
I can't tell you the end with no lies
Don't even know about the end of tonight
If we make it through 'til the morning light
Honey let me sing to you
Oh, let me sing
Oh, let me sing
Honey let me sing to you
