Theres a hole in the roof for the stars to fall in I gather them up for you Fill up my pockets, start walking again I've got these worn out shoes I've got these worn out shoes I've got these worn out shoes Theres a hole in my pocket for the stars to fall out I lose them one at a time I didnt notice when they hit the ground The devil was three steps behind The devil was three steps behind The devil was three steps behind me Theres a hole in the earth where the devil he stays he asked if i could come to so i grabbed my stars and i put them away I was just passing through I was just passing through I was just passing through here Theres a hole in the roof for the stars to fall in I gather them up for you Fill up my pockets, start walking again Bringing these stars to you Bringing these stars to you Bringing these stars to you again