Not Welcome Anymore

Joey Tempest

You were the highlight Of my evenings You brought a smile To every face

And now you're building Some kind of wall And I'm not welcome anymore

You were my weekends And my workingdays You were my brightlight My darkest nights And now you're building Some kind of wall And I'm not welcome anymore

Reacing out to someone You go all way Such a long way When the arguments is over Don't let the sorrow Lead the way

You were my sense And my reward You were my good My big misstake

Cause now you're building Some kind of wall And I'm not welcome anymore Anymore
