

I Mean I Guess

Johan

It doesn't ease the mind, doesn't vanish over night
The match you're craving for it's waiting deep inside
I wouldn't know my breath and this one's taken much too long
I mean it's easier this way, let me be your guide
Cause underneath the smiling face, buried in your eyes
There's a sadness coming through, breaching your disguise

Take this helping hand, shake it, I will be a friend
I guess it hurts when all is wrong, but then again
You shouldn't waste your time, that is you wasting mine
I mean you wanted this and more, let me make it right
Cause underneath this weary face, buried in your eyes
There's a devil coming through, reaching your disguise

Now I'm not here to fool around, to comfort you or put you down
I am just a sad relief, a wonder drug for all your grief

What's the use of climbing up the wall
Where's the sense in trying when it all must fall

Now I'm not here to fool around, to comfort you or put you down
I am just a sad relief, a wonder drug for all your grief
There's nothing more to say, nothing left for me to say
I mean I guess I'm on my way
