

Warm Place In The Snow

John Anderson

There's a chilling wind
Right outside my window
But I know this time
This heart of mine
Won't feel the bitter cold
For the first time
I can feel a fire inside me
And I think I've found
A warm place in the snow
In the distance
I can see a light a shining
You're the shelter where
This lonely heart can go
And a home for all these feelings
I've been hiding
Oh I think I've found
A warm place in the snow
It's an empty, lonesome road
I leave behind me
And the love I see in front of me
Just needs a place to grow
I'm going where the cold
Will never find me
Oh I think I've found
A warm place in the snow
In the distance
I can see a light a shining
You're the shelter where
This lonely heart can go
And a home for all these feelings
I've been hiding
A warm place in the snow.
