

Tell Me Why

John Cale

There's an end to the road that takes you home
There's a way of life you knew before
At the end of the day you will have your rest
You'll find a way
You'll find a way
Don't resist the morning calm
It will keep you safe from harm
The time will come when help is found
You leave behind the things from the past
Though the road is long and hard and the path is wide
We climb it still and seize the skies
It's only a matter of time
It's only a matter of time
The landscape has changed and the mood has gone
Along with the rest we carry on
If you take me back in space in time
I'll let the journey begin and keep it with mine
On this coat of many colours there's a lot of room for others
I see in your face the reason why
You fell from grace and you cannot find
The way from here that leads you back
To the place that you know the best
And its distance from the rest
You tell me why there's a saviour looking on with the weak and the strong, taking us to higher ground
