Child Of The Wild Blue Yonder

John Hiatt

She has the wind as a witness She has feelings that fly by night She believes in forgiveness But it's not love if it holds too tight

And you can fly beside her But you gotta go where your heart says go She lets the bright lights guide her Through the rain and the drivin' snow Where she comes from she don't know

She's a child of the wild blue yonder Flying out of here She's a child of the wild blue yonder Born in an angel's wing

If you see her falling That's just a little trick she does She makes a dive for the pain that's calling Then heads for the clouds like a little dove

She can't help her laughing She can't stop your crying days Sometimes it hurts to be having To hold on a love that surely must fly away

Medicine woman raised her Spirit father praised her Through their love she was set free From a baby kicking and screaming To a full blood woman dreaming With the power just to be
