

Dog

John Lydon

Ever been alone, ever been alone
As we stand we are innocent dog
You can look to the future
When your confident

What does a red herring mean?
Don't know, don't know
How stable is smoke screen?
Don't know, don't know

You ever seen a snow job in the snow?
No, oh no
Where does a false trail go?
Don't know, don't know

Dog
You can look to the future
When your confident

Nothing has an answer and that's a fact
And all religions are the devil's pacts
And one step forward is two steps back
And you know and I know and that's a fact

And as we stand, we are innocent
Adam and Eve are innocent
And all mankind is innocent
We can all do without judgment

And all confusion is confident
You can look to the future
When your confident

I, I, I, I, I, I
Nothing has an answer
And that's a fact

I am innocent
Good doggie, dog
I'm in my element
