The Whore

John Mellencamp

And now I must face The crowd once again The curtain is calling And the show must begin The lights grow dim on the floor

And they call me the whore, oh yeah They call me the whore They call me the whore They call me the whore