Love Collision

John Waite

Ain't it beautiful Don't it make you feel complete It comes into your life Then sweeps you right off your feet

Time stands still for two lovers And it's intangible But it hits like steel It stops me in my tracks

Makes my private world unsealed A crashed car A communication failsafe We could share this vision

In fact we've got no choice Into the arena of love Speaking with one voice Ain't it something else

Like skydiving into Shangri-la And the clearest cool is the zeal-blue heaven And you can't quite put your finger on it And you could be anywhere

Anytime anyplace in your lover's arms Could be paradise or walkin' on thin ice We can share this vision We're on some one-way street

Exchanging cigarettes and glances We both feel the heat It's a love collision Love collision

There's no decision It's a love collision If I close my eyes Visualizing you and I somewhere in this city

And moments of desire The steady the silent gaze of lovers transfixed We could share this vision In fact we've got no choice

Into the arena of love Speaking with one voice It's a love collision Love collision

And there's no decision It's a love collision

Love collision Love collision Love collision Love collision Love collision Love collision Oh no

Love collision Love collision Love collision
