When You Smile

John Wesley Harding

All you have to do is smile And the words just melt away And there is nowhere worth going And I have nothing to say

When you smile Please take off your rings, your watch We'll forget time as it's flying I can see myself so deep in your eyes Can you see yourself in mine

We'll forget just where we are If we're anywhere at all You're not the only one who's lonely I'm not the only one who calls

When you smile When you smile at me When you smile When you smile at me

When the shadows pass above Put the sun on let it shine And the world revolves you and me Its center is just where we lie Feels like time will crawl forever This little room is everywhere But we were made to be together And if not it doesn't matter

When you smile When you smile at me When you smile When you smile at me
