John Wetton

Jane

It's a dazzling morning With a blue sky dawning When all our sadness dies And the joy of waking To a new day taking The sleep from our eyes Sensing that you're just a breath away No shadow of doubt that will remain Jane Whenever I need a dream to hold on to Jane I can remember loving you With your spirit in me For as long as there'll be Stars up in the skies And it's never too late For this moment we'll wait All of our lives Sensing that you're just a breath away No shadow of doubt that will remain Jane Whenever I need a dream to hold on to Jane I can remember loving you I can feel you, night conceals you Waiting for me silently Jane, there's a light that shines from you No shadow of doubt that will remain Jane
