Where Do We Go From Here

John Wetton

A stolen glance, a shared romance
We should have said goodbye
Instead we found a secret love, that no-one knows
Just you and I
So we held on for so long, no need to question why
Now I fight back the feeling
I can't resist, I can't give in, but to carry on would be a sin, tell me

Where do we go from here? Where do we turn now that everything has changed The colours are fading that once were so clear, so Where do we go, where do we go from here?

I walk in the shadows, stand in the rain
You run to our rendez-vous, I ask myself
Will I see the same girl I used to, or a stranger to me?
The sweet taste of danger
The same charade in a cheap hotel, or is it love?
I just can't tell, so
