

Two Lovers

John Williams

Two Lovers

City sleeping, starlight weeping.

Two lovers stealing through the night,
to steal what might be always.

Midnight chiming, perfect timing.

Two lovers steal a soft embrace,
in some sweet place where love stays.

A work of art, a lover's kiss
the world apart would miss a heartbeat
at the beauty love discovers
when two lovers meet.

A work of art, a lover's kiss
the world apart would miss a heartbeat
at the beauty love discovers
when two lovers meet.
