

The Last To Know

Johnny Hates Jazz

Innocence is just a game you play with me
I didn't see the mask you wore
I drew it back, new round, someone new
Didn't that fall for bad
I never knew love could be like this
The bitterest taste, I got the sweetest kiss

Everybody tells me so
Why do I have to be the last to know
You can tell it to the face
You could go
First you get hurt
How can I be the last to know

I never guessed I was warned by all my friends
I didn't know you were one of a kind
And every word you told me night after night
It was all one big lie
Oh I never knew I could be so blind
You were twisting that laugh saying that you were mine

Everybody tells me so
Why do I have to be the last to know
You can tell it to the face
You could go
First you get hurt
How can I be the last to know

Oooh oh oh oh

Oh I never knew love could be like this
The bitterest taste, I got the sweetest kiss

Everybody tells me so
Why do I have to be the last to know
You can see that I might
Does my feeling show
First you get fooled
And the last to know

Yeah yeah

I always said that you were mine

It's just a game

The last to know

Someone new

Just play with me

I couldn't have been the last to know

Na-na Na-na
