Looking at You

Johnny Mathis

I look at you and I say to myself "What more could I want, if I had you?" But I wouldn't dare to speak it out loud I stand and I stare, my head in a cloud

I look at you and I say to my heart "What chance would I have? Why let the fire start?" I long to know the thrill of your sweet embrace Yet when we're face to face, I just look at you

I long to know the thrill of your sweet embrace Yet when we're face to face, I just look at you
