

The show tonight

Johnossi

Well tonight I stay home
'cos I don't want to bother my child who feels empty and sick of it's mother, when you're bored by yourself you wanna care for another but empathy don't fit in emotional slaughter

Death won't greet you with open arms, you'll accept it, because your heart has been crying right from the start of your twenties so let's not pretend Hey

Well tonight I stay home

right from the start of your twenties let's play in the sand, like we used to take comfort in mum like we used to, have a caramel and be happy, plan one day ahead like we used to

Now put your hands together for the persons who made it, that look of success is the one you just hated, aren't you bored by yourself, oh you share with another you've gone through the book now you care for eachoter, right

Death won't greet you

Well tonight I stay home
and sick of it's mother, but forget it, you just get in the snow with the others the rest of the pigs are your sisters and brothers

I don't care about the show tonight as long as you're with med I'll be ok.
