

Going Home

Jon Allen

Many miles we're yet to travel
Many lives we're yet to know
But there's a road that we must follow
And there's still time for us to grow

And though the way just keeps on winding
And every day's a changing view
Down the line I keep on finding
This old road leads me back to you

I have had my share of leaving
I have walked this road alone
Now I hear your voice a calling
I can see the lights of home

And though the way just keeps on winding
And every day's a changing view
Down the line I keep on finding
This old road leads me back to you

I don't need no stars to guide me
I don't need no moonlit sky
Cause I know my heart will take me
Back to where my true love lies

And though the way just keeps on winding
And every day's a changing view
Down the line I keep on finding
This old road leads me back to you
